"Workin' with Tradition"

is a classroom based soft skills training program designed to help individuals of Native American heritage prepare for successful employment on or off the reservation by developing:

- (1) Greater awareness of difficulties faced when seeking employment, especially when home culture conflicts with workplace expectations.
- (2) Greater skill in managing stress, frustration, and anxiety.
- (3) Improved skills for difficult work situations, including time management, communication skills, and logical problem solving.

"I learned a lot more on how to deal with work, with people, friends, family. Thank you for building my skills."
- A.P., job seeker

FAQs about VIRTUAL TRAINING

To address the need for new Workin' It Out instructors during the COVID-19 pandemic, I have planned a VIRTUAL Instructor Certification Seminar in "Workin' with Tradition," our soft skills program tailored to the needs of Native American job-seekers.

WHEN? The 3-day Instructor Certification Seminar is scheduled to begin at 9:00 AM Central Time (10:00AM Eastern, 8:00AM Mountain, 7:00AM Pacific), with breaks throughout the day. The first two days are eight (8) hours long, and the final day is only six (6) hours long. Instructors must attend the entire training and be fully engaged to be certified.

VIRTUAL? The training will be conducted using a virtual approach. We strongly recommend (but do not require) that each participant is paired with one or two others in local teams (i.e., 2-3 people per team) for the sake of discussions, activities, and teaching demonstrations.

The class itself will take place over Zoom, led by the author Dr. Steve Parese. Some classroom-based activities will be conducted in local teams to allow for in-person experiences. Each teaching team will be required to prepare and deliver a 50-minute virtual demonstration lesson to the rest of the class, after which they will receive supportive feedback from Dr. Parese and their classmates. At the conclusion of the course, each instructor may be required to pass an online multiple choice test with a minimum score to 80%, after which s/he will receive a signed certificate by e-mail.

TECHNOLOGY? Each trainer must have his/her own (1) Computer or tablet with a minimum 9" screen; (2) Built-in or USB camera; and (3) Wired or wireless headphones with microphone to avoid feedback or echo. Phones screens are NOT large enough to be effective.

If working in a group, please AVOID projecting a single computer onto a common screen. This makes it difficult to discern individuals or divide into virtual breakout groups, and almost impossible to hear. Individuals may be in a large common room as long as each has a personal headset and microphone to avoid the echo and squeal common to Zoom meetings.

MATERIALS? Prior to the training, each new Instructor will receive a full set of instructional materials, including: one (1) Workin' with Tradition Trainer's Manual, one (1) Tradition PowerPoint flash drive, and a starter set of ten (10) Tradition Workbooks. (Additional workbooks for use with participants must be purchased directly from us.)

COST? $850/person, including shipping of all materials listed above one week prior to training. $100 discount/person with 5+ instructors.

CROSS-TRAINING? If you are working with a different population, such as at-risk youth or people with multiple barriers, and this curriculum isn't a perfect fit, we have a solution. After completing this training, you may substitute materials and cross-train in an alternate version at no added cost*. Cross training requires 1-2 hours per program, and will be completed within 48 hours of the initial training.
